

MAN STICKS
TO HIS ALIBIBut Police Ask That He be Held as Suspect

IN "SACK MURDER" CASE

Hugund Goldberg Was Put Through the Third Degree To-day, But He Came Out of It Well—Denies Boy's Story.

New York, June 18.—The police asked today that Sigmund Goldberg who was arrested on suspicion in connection with the "sack murder" of Samuel Bernin last week, be held pending further investigation. The third degree was administered to the suspect today but it failed to break down the alibi which he has claimed. Goldberg says that he was painting a house several miles from the scene, where the Tolaro boy claims that Goldberg met him and paid him to guard a sack containing the dismembered body of Bernin.

It was while the boy was guarding the sack that the murder was first discovered. The boy claims not to have known what was in the sack and it was not until the sack was removed to a police station after the boy had stood guard all the afternoon and the man had not returned to claim the sack and pay him the ten cents reward for his services. When the police ripped open the package which was wrapped in oil cloth they discovered the dismembered body, hacked to pieces in a rough, careless manner.

TREMBLING PRISONER.

Mrs. Briggs of Taunton Faces Charge of Embezzlement.

New Bedford, Mass., June 18.—Jennie L. Briggs, the widow of Lyman E. Briggs of Taunton, who died in July, 1891, was arraigned in the superior court yesterday on an indictment charging her in ten counts with the embezzlement of $3,623.50, the property of her minor son, Lyman E. Briggs, of whose estate she was the guardian until her removal by the probate court, her failure to file an inventory or any account of her guardianship. The defendant pleaded not guilty to the indictment through her counsel, William F. Buckminster.

Mrs. Briggs had to be supported to a seat in the dock, and she walked along with an officer on either side, her frame shook like the leaves of a tree in a wind storm. She frequently raised the white veil that hid her face to wipe away the tears in her eyes. As the case proceeded, the woman was pitifully affected by the evidence produced against her. She was apparently incapable herself of appreciating the seriousness of the offense charged against her. Her counsel frequently stepped to the prisoner's dock to confer with her, and at these conferences she was so affected that it was difficult for her to speak.

Mrs. Briggs entrusted at different times portions of the estate of which she was guardian to another for investment. A charge was brought against Augustus H. Gurnard of Boston for the larceny of certain bonds entrusted to him for investment. He was tried and acquitted on the charge. When the case against Mrs. Briggs came up yesterday, her counsel sought to have introduced in court, the testimony taken in the former trial in which there was an acquittal. This was ruled out on the objection of Mr. White.

Col. Alfred B. Hodges, a district police officer of Taunton, testified to a conversation he overheard between Albert R. White 2d, the present guardian of the boy and Mrs. Briggs. To a question asked by Mr. White, the witness said that Mrs. Briggs replied that the reason she took the bonds from the bank and put them in some one's hands, was to keep them out of the hands of Mr. Barnard.

BRITISH FLEET'S MANOEUVRES.
About 350 Ships Will be Employed in Three Fleets.

London, June 18.—The mobilization of the British fleet for the annual manoeuvres was practically completed yesterday, and something like 350 warships are now making their way to their respective stations. The manoeuvres will be secret, but the general scheme is understood to be a repetition of the plan of last year, which, however, resulted in a fiasco, as, owing to the fog, the opposing fleets never came into contact.

The forces this year are divided into red, white and blue fleets. The red represents a German force assigned to a position on the east coast of Scotland. Its duty is to bring the white or North sea fleet into action before the latter can effect a junction with the blue fleet, which is patrolling the west coast of Scotland. A condition of the manoeuvres is that the whole fleet can pass only through the Pentland strait, or south-west by way of Dover straits.

Eighteen flag officers are engaged. Vice Admiral Sir William Henry May is in supreme command.

CHILDREN IN PANIC.

Wild Times in New York Public Schools
Yesterday.

New York, June 18.—One of those sudden waves of hysteria which from time to time sweep the crowded tenements of the East Side yesterday temporarily closed three public schools with an attendance of more than 4,000 pupils, blocked all traffic on Grand street for an hour and was not quieted until the police reserves were called out. Beyond the fact that many Jewish parents have of late been receiving threatening letters demanding $1 from each family, on pain of having their children murdered there is no explanation.

First the rumbling of a fire engine on the gallop reached the ears of the pent up children of a school that houses 3,300 pupils. The engine whistled shrilly, a little girl shrieked in answer, and in a minute the hallways were filled with a mob of shrieking, fighting boys and girls, and angry police strikers mothers from nearby tenements were clashing and kicking at the outside of the street doors. As if by prearrangement another passing engine chafed the nerves of another set of children in a second school.

The rumor spread through the excited surges that the school was on fire. Before the crowds could get to it there was a shout that a third school had been blown up by the Black Hand. Then there was no holding the people. Parents fought with the police for their children and many were torn and bruised in the scuffle. All traffic came to a stop and it was long before order was restored.

All the East Side schools had to be closed an hour earlier than is usual. It was found impossible to get more than half the normal attendance of children and those that did return could not study.

MURDER TRIAL IN PROGRESS.

Day of Routine in Case of State vs.
Harris of Pownal.

Manchester, June 18.—Yesterday's session of the trial of Thomas Harris, who was indicted by the grand jury at the present June term for the murder of Oscar Turner at Pownal on the night of April 17, was largely taken up with routine testimony. George Leonard, step-father of Turner, was placed on the stand to testify in relation to the identification of different articles found on the body when it was taken from the river. He identified the watch and chain. It was Leonard who found the young man's cap lying on the morning following Turner's disappearance and when the cap was exhibited by State's Attorney W. J. Meagher, he identified it.

Daniel T. Bates, a civil engineer living in Pownal, testified that the distance between the spot where previous witnesses testified that Turner lay in the highway and the spot where the cap was found in the river was 8 1/2 feet.

Deputy Sheriff John Nash and Sheriff Fred Godfrey testified in relation to the finding of the picks and shovels among which, it is alleged by the state, is the weapon, a headless pickhandle, with which the fatal assault was committed.

HAT MAKERS SUED.

Suit Brought by The Associated Hat
Manufacturers.

Danbury, Conn., June 18.—Suits were brought in this city yesterday afternoon by the Associated Hat Manufacturers, Incorporated of New York against 16 hat manufacturing firms in Danbury, Bethel and New Milford for damages of $26,000 from each for alleged violation of the terms of agreements and the bonds that figured in the recent tie up of the hating industry in Danbury and throughout the country.

Attainments aggregating more than $300,000 are being placed upon the real estate and bank account of the firms and corporations defendants in the suits. The 16 concerns which are being sued made a settlement with the hatters' union last week and the suits are the outcome of a settlement, which was alleged to have been in violation of the agreement and bond under which the manufacturers were organized. The seven Danbury concerns which effected a settlement during the present week are not being sued and their names appear in the list of those who figured as plaintiffs.

HEAVY LOSS
IN WOLCOTTFife's Store and Building
Wiped Out by Fire

ALSO OLD HOTEL BUILDING

This Morning's Damage Is Upwards of
$10,000, Partially Covered by Insurance—Hard Work Saved
Adjoining Property.

Wolcott, June 18.—The building in this village owned by F. A. Fife and occupied on the lower floor by Mr. Fife's large general store and on the upper floor by four tenements was burned down early this morning, together with most of its contents. A hotel building, known as the Wolcott House, and the barns connected with it were also destroyed, making a total loss of upwards of $10,000.

The fire was discovered at three o'clock in the Fife building, and it had made great headway at the time. Efforts were made to get out part of the things in Mr. Fife's store, but all that was saved was a little clothing and a few show-cases. The tenants in the upper part of the building lost everything. The hotel building was not occupied.

Adjoining property was saved only after great effort. A hand engine was brought into use and by means of it the residence of A. J. Wilson was saved, and a bucket brigade saved the residence of Edward Kemson and the floor mill of Churchill & Udell. The hotel buildings were separated from Fife's store only by a driveway, and the flames soon swept across this and lapped up the old buildings.

The loss is partially covered by insurance.

FARM BUILDINGS

ALL DESTROYED

Frank Emmons of North Danville Has
Hard Luck Because of a Defective Chimney—His Livestock Was Saved.

St. Johnsbury, June 18.—The comparatively new farm buildings of Frank Emmons, about three miles from North Danville, were destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon, with a loss of $5,000. A house and two barns were burned down together with all their contents except the livestock in the barns. The loss is partially covered by an insurance of $4,000.

At the time the fire was discovered, the flames were breaking through the roof of the house, having probably been caused by a defective chimney. The flames had made much headway and the high wind drove them over to the barns. The nearest neighbor lives half a mile away and by the time the neighbors reached the Emmons' farm it was too late to save any of the property.

RECEIVERS ASKED FOR.

Two Burlington Concerns in Chittenden
County Court.

Burlington, June 18.—Two bills in chancery, involving local firms, were filed in Chittenden county court yesterday. In the matter of the Vermont Construction company, which has been doing a general engineering business, etc., at Burlington, the receiver, J. S. Scammon, asked for the appointment of a receiver to be wound up.

In the chancery suit of Miles Cunningham vs. Charles R. Nash, a petition for an injunction and receiver was entered. The bill sets up that in October, 1899, a plumbing partnership was formed, the orator investing $600 and the defendant $200 and $300 worth of tools, the profits to be shared equally. Mr. Cunningham, becoming dissatisfied with the management of the business, alleges that Mr. Nash had applied to his own use more than his share of the profits, and that he be enjoined from further interference and that a receiver be appointed to the end that the business be straightened out.

WITH HER DIVORCEHelen Ketchum of Vergennes Wins Hard Fought Suit With Harvey Ketchum
a Vergennes Merchant.

Middlebury, June 18.—The long and hard fought divorce case of Helen Ketchum vs. Harvey Ketchum of Vergennes in Addison county court was concluded at 3:30 o'clock yesterday. At five o'clock Judge Butler announced the granting of a divorce to Mrs. Ketchum on the ground of intolerable severity and awarded her $5,000 alimony. The verdict is secured by a lien on the house and store of Mr. Ketchum in Vergennes and by an attachment on an account in the Burlington Savings bank. F. L. Fish of Vergennes, counsel for Ketchum, took exceptions to the verdict and the amount of alimony as exclusive and the case will be appealed to supreme court.

ESCAPED FROM JAIL.

Fred Muir Had an Easy Time Quitting
Chittenden County Prison.

Burlington, June 18.—It was discovered yesterday morning that Fred Muir, a prisoner in the Chittenden county jail, had escaped some time during the previous night. Muir is still at large.

The escape of the prisoner is not a credit to the manner of construction of the new jail. Muir wrenched one of the iron brackets from his bunk in the basement and first attempted to wrench the iron screen from his cell window. He then tried to break through the wall of the cell by using the end of a broom. Ordinarily he would have met with difficulty thereafter but the jail has settled to such an extent that it is impossible to lock the basement door so the prisoner opened it and was free. Muir was alone and consequently his efforts were unheard.

Muir has a bad record. He was serving a term of 12 days for stealing a bicycle and was held also on a charge of grand larceny for stealing another. On his way between the court room and jail following his hearing, Muir escaped from the officer in charge but was recaptured before he had made much progress toward liberty.

of High Winds.

Rutland, June 18.—Prof. Pickering of Harvard university and Editor Jay E. Benton of the Boston Pilot and William Van Sleet, who came to this city yesterday for the purpose of making a balloon ascension and trip across Vermont and the White Mountains, made the ascension in the balloon "Massachusetts" this morning, starting at 10:45 o'clock. Charles J. Glidden, the well known balloonist, who came with the intention of going up with the party, decided not to make the trip because of the high winds.

The wind was blowing from the northwest at the time of the ascension and its direction was very unfavorable for the completion of the proposed trip across the White Mountains. Mount Washington lies about 85 miles from Rutland. The ascension was made without mishap, the details having been completed yesterday by Mr. Van Sleet, the official pilot of the Pittsfield, Mass.
